

COOKIE USE POLICY

What is the purpose of our Cookie Usage Policy?

UNNAX uses cookies for a variety of purposes, including ensuring that the website functions as expected, saving your preferences, and collecting data about users who access our website and services.

UNNAX places great importance on the confidentiality of your personal data, which represents a commitment to reliability and trust, including with respect to cookies.

Our policy on the use of cookies is a clear demonstration of our commitment to ensuring that UNNAX complies with the applicable regulations on personal data protection, particularly those related to the cookies used when you browse our website, www.unnax.com.

For information regarding other personal data processing operations, please refer to our Privacy Policy.

What are cookies? Can they identify you directly?

A cookie is a small "text" file placed and hosted by a server on your terminal (e.g. smartphone, tablet or computer) when you visit a website.

Your web browser (such as Internet Explorer, Mozilla Firefox, Google Chrome, or Safari) transmits these cookies to our website on each subsequent visit.

The cookies do not contain any information that personally identifies you. Consequently, a cookie does not enable us to identify you personally, since it only enables us to identify your terminal via your IP address, as well as various information linked to your browsing (e.g. browsing time, pages viewed, screen size, etc.).

What are technical cookies and why do we use them?

The proper functioning of our www.unnax.com website necessarily involves the use of technical cookies, which we may use without your prior consent, on the basis of our legitimate interest in providing you with a functional website.

For example, a technical cookie enables us to remember the language of your website, as well as its format, to facilitate future connections and navigation.

Therefore, although we do not recommend it, you can always oppose the deposit of these cookies on your terminal using your browser settings by following the instructions below: Chrome, Microsoft Edge, Safari, Firefox and Opera.

In this case, however, your experience as a visitor may be degraded. To restore your browsing experience, you'll need to reset your technical cookies.

What personal data do we process with our cookies and for how long?

The personal data processed by the cookies we use are :

- your IP address and a user ID that we create when you first connect so that we can recognize you for up to 13 months
- if you accept the deposit of statistical cookies, your personal data linked to your browsing on our website (e.g. pages visited, browsing times, etc.) for a maximum period of 13 months, non-renewable before any new connection before the 14th month.

Once the retention periods specified below have expired, we do not keep any data about you. At the most, we may anonymize your data for statistical purposes.

How do you control the use of cookies?

You can refuse cookies at any time by clicking on our cookies banner.

In the event that the cookies banner is no longer displayed, you can also configure cookies via the "manage cookies" tab on our site or directly on your browser by following the instructions below: Chrome, Microsoft Edge, Safari, Firefox and Opera.

What rights do you have to control the use of your personal data via cookies?

The applicable data protection regulations grant you specific rights which you can exercise, at any time and free of charge, to control the use we make of your data.

- Right to access and copy your personal data, provided this request does not conflict with business secrecy, confidentiality or the secrecy of correspondence.
- Right to rectify personal data that is incorrect, outdated or incomplete.
- The right to request the deletion ("right to be forgotten") of personal data that is not essential to the proper functioning of our services.
- The right to limit the use of your personal data, which allows you to photograph the use of your data in the event of a dispute over the legitimacy of processing.
- The right to data portability, which enables you to retrieve part of your personal data so that it can be easily stored or transmitted from one information system to another.
- The right to give instructions on what to do with your data in the event of your death, either through you, a trusted third party or a beneficiary.

For a request to be taken into account, it must be sent directly by you to dpo@unnax.com. Any request not made in this way cannot be processed.

Requests cannot come from anyone other than you. We may therefore ask you to provide proof of identity if there is any doubt about the identity of the person making the request.

We will respond to your request as quickly as possible, subject to a maximum of three months from receipt if the request is technically complex or if we receive many requests at the same time.

Please note that we may at any time refuse to respond to any excessive or unfounded request, particularly in view of its repetitive nature.

Can your personal data used via our cookies be transferred outside the European Union?

The statistical and advertising cookies we use may send your IP address and user ID outside the European Union in order to function. In this case, we guarantee that these tools strictly comply with the applicable transfer rules in order to guarantee confidentiality and adequate protection of your personal data.

Who can you contact to obtain more information about the use of your personal data?

To best guarantee the protection and integrity of your data, we have officially appointed an independent Data Protection Officer ("DPO") with our supervisory authority.

You can contact our DPO at any time and free of charge at dpo@unnax.com to obtain more information or details on how we process your data.

How can you contact AEPD?

You may contact AEPD at any time at the following address:

AEPD
